The image shows two women dressed in elaborate traditional Indian wedding attire. The woman on the left wears a maroon lehenga with intricate gold embroidery and a matching blouse, adorned with a large gold necklace and a bindi. She holds a black metal tray with a lit Diya (candle) and a small pile of yellow flowers. The woman on the right wears a red and gold lehenga with detailed embroidery and a matching blouse, also wearing a gold necklace and bindi. She holds a similar tray with a Diya and flowers. They are standing in front of a golden lattice window and a dark wooden door, set against a dark brown background.

The image shows two women in traditional Indian clothing, likely for a wedding or festive occasion. The woman on the left wears a maroon lehenga with intricate gold embroidery and a matching blouse, adorned with a large gold necklace and a bindi. She holds a silver tray with a lit Diya (candle) and a small pile of yellow flowers. The woman on the right wears a red and gold lehenga with detailed embroidery and a matching blouse, also wearing a gold necklace and a bindi. She holds a silver tray with a lit Diya and a small pile of yellow flowers. They are standing in front of a golden lattice window and a dark, ornate door, with warm lighting creating a festive atmosphere.
